

SENATORS TO HEAR MORE WITNESSES ON SCHOOL BUDGET

Building Supply Dealers Of District Called to Testify.

The Senate District sub-committee on schools will hold further hearings on the $2,000,000 emergency school budget on Friday.

Harry Wardman, C. D. Wire, W. E. Mooney and George E. Wyne, as heads of contracting or material supply firms, have been summoned to testify as to costs of labor, lumber, cement, fixtures and other essentials of construction.

Kuts to Attend.
Engineer Commissioner Kutz will be present. The investigation of building costs was demanded by Senator King, of Utah, who declared a combine in restraint of trade exists in Washington. On account of Senator King's inability to attend sooner than Friday the hearings, which were to have been held this afternoon, were postponed. The subcommittee will meet at 2 o'clock on Friday. Senator Capper, of Kansas, is chairman and Senator Jones, of Washington, is the third member. Senator Capper has announced the subcommittee is greatly impressed with the appeal of school officials for the minimum appropriation, and that the urgency of relief for the crowded schools is not doubted.

Object of Hearing.
The object of continuing the hearings is to ascertain where the expenditures can be best made. The object is to have delayed all building possible until prices come down. Recommendations are to be made to the subcommittee on appropriations, as soon as the hearings are concluded and the situation is personally looked over by Senators Capper and Ball.

The latter is chairman of the District committee. Senator Phelps, of Colorado, is chairman of the Appropriations Subcommittee, who will pass finally upon the $2,000,000 program before it is submitted to the Senate for passage. It is understood the request to the Senate will be made in the form of a supplemental appropriations bill.

The District committee will meet tomorrow afternoon, the date for regular meetings having been changed from Monday to Wednesday.

House Committee to Meet.
The subcommittee of the House District Committee appointed by Chairman Focht to consider the District school question will not hold hearings nor take up the school question in the near future, according to Representative Walters, chairman.

Walters said yesterday that it was the function of the District subcommittee on appropriations to do such work and that anything his committee did along this line would be duplication.

Walters and his subcommittee, however, expect to see Dr. Ballou, superintendent of District schools, at 11 o'clock this morning, and the meeting, he said, would be in the nature of an interview to enlighten the committee.

Leaders Resume Effort To Increase Army's Size
The $330,000,000 army appropriation bill, which was reduced $10,000,000 a week ago when the "little army" men forced a reduction of the enlisted personnel to 150,000, was brought up before the House again yesterday.

Republicans successfully opposed the Democratic reductions. This fight was taken to presage an effort to restore the army of 168,000 enlisted personnel before the bill is finally passed this week.

Four Collectors Nominated.
The following nominations were sent to the Senate yesterday by President Harding: To be collector of customs for district No. 13, headquarters at Baltimore, Charles H. Holtzman; collector of internal revenue, first district of Illinois, John C. Cannon; collector of internal revenue, eighth district of Illinois, George W. Schaner; collector of internal revenue, twenty-eighth district, New York, Bert P. Gaze.
